As summer ends and school begins, it's time to start thinking basketball again. For girls high school players in grades 10, 11 and 12, with goals of playing at the next level, it's a must to play at a "Fall Exposure" event. For over 2 decades, the Northeast College Showcase has given players the opportunity to play against the best upperclassmen in front of top Division II and III Women's Coaches!

NCAA rules prohibit Division I College Coaches from attending Fall exposure events until October 8th, but Division II and Division III College Coaches from throughout the Northeast will still be in attendance at this event. This is a great opportunity to be seen by these coaches and is also a great way to prepare for the Division I evaluation period in October.

- In the past 20 years, players who have attended our College Showcase have gone on to receive full scholarships at schools in the Big East, Big Ten, ACC and dozens of other Division I and II schools throughout the country. In addition, the College Showcase has opened many doors that enabled players to receive financial aid at numerous Ivey League and Division III schools. You could be the next player to benefit from the exposure you'll receive at the Northeast College Showcase. Register today!
- "My daughter was invited to play in the Northeast College Showcase and found it to be the best exposure event that she attended.. your event was a factor in her receiving several scholarship offers!" Gene Bowe-- Varsity Girls Coach at John Jay HS (Fishkill, NY)
- The Northeast College Showcase is always the most organized NCAA exposure event we attend. When we hit the recruiting trail each Sept., the College Showcase is a must see event!"
College Women's Basketball Coach
